Introduction

Capacity building refers to an enabling and empowering process of an individual/community to improve skill and knowledge for sustainable and gainful living. Capacity building programme for social scientists basically meant to impart and train them with the necessary tools and networks resulting in better chances for producing substantial and excellent research outputs in social sciences for the betterment of human society. In the light of this, under the sponsorship of the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR), New Delhi, a capacity building programme for the faculty members of various social science disciplines, who are in the beginning or mid-stage of their academic career is scheduled to be organized at Kalinga Institute of Social Sciences (KISS), Deemed to be University, Bhubaneswar from 01-15 December 2019 with a view to improving their skills in teaching and conducting research in social sciences.

KISS deemed to be University

Established in the last decade of the twentieth century, Kalinga Institute of Social Sciences (KISS), which started with just a handful of students in 1993, is now a home for 30,000 underprivileged children and has grown into the largest residential educational institute of the world for the tribals. KISS was conferred the deemed University status in 2017 by the Ministry of Human Resource Development, Government of India in recognition of its excellence. It has been working in the innovative areas of knowledge particularly interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary subjects with special reference to Tribal Culture, Philosophy, Art & Crafts, Medicinal Systems, Indology, Heritage, Customary Law, Tribal Resources, Tribal Language & Literature, etc. Needless to say, KISS University has earned national level reputation in India not only for its educational excellence of tribal children, but also for its dedicated social service and grooming tribal children into the mainstream. Several boys and girls from KISS have represented India in various national and international sports events. They have also become world champion in Rugby tournament played outside India. Over the years KISS has started spreading its wings and set up branches in different parts of Odisha and also in different parts of the country like Delhi, Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh, etc. for the underprivileged children.
